Frances Joan Case, junior bridesmaid, wore a gown fashioned like that of the bride, of pale-green net over taffeta. Her flowers were pink Pinocchio roses. Little Rosemary Holdcroft in light green was flower girl.

Carl Quayle, of Torrance, attended his brother and ushers were the other brothers of the bridegroom, Roland and Jess Quayle. Preceding the ceremony, Edward H. Davies sang, accompanied by Ralph Teitz, who also played the wedding marches.

Letters to Editor

(Editor's note: The Torrance Herald this week received many messages of congratulation on the Veterans Welcome Home Edition of last week, but one of them, unsigned, asked that attention be given the fact that there is no water in the fountain on El Prado and Cravens ave., and that there are no cross-walk warning signs on Torrance Blvd. We again remind our readers and correspondents that our policy does not permit us to print unsigned letters unless complete and satisfactory identification is made to the editor. In such cases, signed copies will be kept on file but the identity of writers held in confidence. We do not encourage this practice, however, and ask that all letters sent to this newspaper for publication be kept within 300 words and be signed.)
